

Healing a dysfunctional team through art-making

Team Pack

A dysfunctional team can make your life harder and more complicated! Simple actions such as a call, a check on something, receiving an email or a file and much more serious stuff, like taking responsibility, sharing information and being reliable, can drop you in a proper drama sometimes.

But don't despair. This is actually quite normal in most organizations, and although it isn't easy, it is absolutely possible to overcome.

Disruptive behavior on a team has very identifiable causes and even the most conflicting team can quickly become cohesive and also performing with:

- a little developed awareness
- emotional resilience
- trust and communication.

With this program, participants will acquire:

- a greater understanding about the nature of their unproductive and unhealthy behavior
- how to transform disruptive behavior into something constructive.

PROGRAM DETAILS

The program is highly experiential and interactive and is delivered in 12 webinars of one hour and half each for a total of 15 hours, with one training per week.

BENEFITS

It explores the team spirit through art-making to promote:

- self-awareness and emotional resilience
- trust and healthy relationships
- motivation and empathic communication
- clear company vision.

GOOD TO KNOW

The webinars are in English and for maximum 8 participants.
